PENOBSCOT COUNTY FARMERS' CLUB.

THE MEETING HELD WITH THE CLUB AT ETNA—INTERESTING DISCUSSIONS—THE NEXT PLACE OF MEETING, ETC.

Agreeably to the call of the Secretary the Penobscot County Farmers' Club met with the Etna Farmers' Club of Etna, on Tuesday, Jan. 18. The meeting was called to order by Hebron Luce, Esq., President of the Penobscot County Club. In the absence of the Secretary, J. E. Shaw was appointed Secretary. The topic for the forenoon discussion was "Which is Best, Under or Surface Drainage?"

Mr. Chase of Carmel, opened the discussion saying he thought surface drains superior to under drains, for these reasons: Under-drains are liable to get filled up by mud and many other causes, and in winter to be liable to be frozen up if they are not ... below the frost, but surface drains are always in working order ... give the ... a chance to pass off at all times.

Mr. Whitten of Etna, believed in both surface and under drains, but on farms having long slopes surface-drains are injurious to the lower portion of the field thus drained, from the large amount of water that must necessarily flow in them. He considered laying out land into beds with open drains between them, many times of little ... and thought under-drains should be laid across long slopes to receive the greatest benefit from them. He had one field under-drained some twenty years since; dug three drains from four to six feet deep, then stoned them about six inches square and covered with flat rocks, then filled in small to be covered them with boughs and scraped back the earth thrown out. It cost about $75 to put in the three drains and the land is worth $150 more than before it was drained.

Mr. Arey of Hampden, thinks well of under drains; do not care to have them more than six inches deep, and for under drains wants them from three to four feet deep, and would not put in rocks more than one foot deep, so that after putting hay or boughs on the rocks there will be two and one half feet of soil over the drains.

Mr. O. L. Carter of Etna said he had had but little experience in draining, but from observation thought on many farms great benefits were derived from it, and that all drains should be laid in such a manner as to cut the head waters as far as possible.

Mr. Jefferson Whitten of Etna, did not know but little about draining. There are many farms that can be improved by surface-draining, but ... considerable about under-draining and all know where it comes from. He thought there had not been anything written on under draining; many farms would have been surface-drained that are not, because the owners can not afford the extra expense of under draining.

Mr. Sanborn of Etna said he also knew but little about draining, but was pleased with Mr. Whitten's success in under draining the improvement of his field was great. Some forty years since he commenced to drain a field where the fall was about one foot to the rod and made surface-drains ... improved the field greatly. Three years ago he put in fifty rods of under drains with rocks and it proved a success. His remarks closed the forenoon session.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION

opened at 2 P. M., and the hall was well filled. The topic discussed was "Winter Care and Feeding of Stock." The discussion was opened by Mr. J. H. Gregory of Carmel. He said that he had for the last five years been engaged in farming. And studying the natural wants of stock had found it best to feed them in such a manner that it will not make any extra. He considered it beneficial to stock to feed some provender. The best kind of shorts, as he thought, are a mixture of one part wheat and two parts oats. With two quarts of this feed per day and good, early cut hay stock not only holds its own but improves in flesh.

Mr. C. A. S. Garland of Carmel thought farmers should take such care of their stock as will give them the greatest profit. There is more profit in feeding stock on grass and good hay than there is on grain. Stock can be grown in two years on grass and hay, to the size of most of the stock we find at four years old.

Mr. Rogers of Stetson, thought a little grain beneficial to dairy stock and also young stock. He had of late taken more pains with cows, and fed more grain. Every dollar's worth of grain fed to cows has paid him two dollars in butter.

Mr. Chase of Carmel, keeps some twelve or fourteen head, mostly young stock; feeds young stock and sheep mostly on meadow hay, and straw, with meal to make it equal to good hay; generally feeds corn meal, considering it better than clear meal.

Mr. Jefferson Whitten of Etna, said he had to feed straw to get through the winter, but it pays to feed grain or roots.

Mr. S. Dennett of Etna, thought good early cut hay would keep stock in good condition.

Mr. Moses Abbot of Etna, thought stock should be started right when young; calves should be kept growing. There is a great loss on stock when young. He considered sheep the most profitable stock on a farm.

Capt. Ellis Friend of Etna, thought good early cut hay would keep young stock in a growing condition. He during one year, fed calves on hay that was cut in June, with the best results, and preferred potatoes to any kind of roots.

J. E. Shaw, West Hampden, considered it necessary that stock should have warm quarters, as well as good feed, and farmers that have a warm barn for their stock will keep it on much less hay and have it in better condition, than those that have cold, open barns. Good early cut hay is good feed, but if the farmers generally would feed more grain and roots, they would realize greater profits from their stock.

Mr. Burnette of Newport, said he is a farmer on a small scale, and from experience is convinced that it is not best to feed cattle wholly on coarse food; but it is better to feed partly with good hay. He is in the habit of throwing hard wood ashes under cattle once a week to kill lice on them, if they happen to be troubled with them. He feeds his stock mostly on coarse fodder; does not think it good policy to feed all his poor fodder the first of the winter. Barns should be made warm, and the stock fed out of doors when it is good weather, in the forenoon, and should stay out about three hours; then be given water and fed up.

Mr. Nathan Whitton of Etna, took a different view of the question, and considered that all flesh is grass, for there is not a living animal that can live without it; and it is consumed by different animals in different forms. Grass is safe feed for stock, also roots and grain, if fed properly, and with good judgment; but it is good policy to feed some corn and shorts.

Mr. O. L. Carter of Etna, thought all stock should be sheltered, especially sheep, from the cold storms. He has practiced protecting them, and they have not been troubled with a cough the following winters. He sells oats for better prices by feeding them to calves than by hauling them to market, for it does pay to raise good animals, and they will always sell for a good price.

THE EVENING SESSION

was called to order by Capt. Ellis Friend, of Etna. The question for discussion was, "Is the Agricultural College an Advantage to the State?" The discussion was opened by Hebron Luce, Esq., of Bangor. He said that several years since the wise men of the nation, believing the farmers of the country were not as well educated as they should be, and that giving the several States a portion of the public lands, according to their representation in Congress, for the purpose of establishing an Agricultural College in each of the different States would be an advantage to the farmers. If our College has not been as great an advantage to the farmers of the State as was expected by many, it is because the college has not been in a working condition for the want of funds. He believed it to be a conclusive fact that young men are benefited by manual labor, and the young men that are educated at the Agricultural College, if they do not go back to the farm will always cherish a greater interest in the welfare of farmers than those that are educated at the Classical College. And every one knows that an education gives a man power, and if graduates will use that power for the benefit of the farmers. Many think the standard of education for the young men to enter College is set too high but he did not think the present standard any too high, or it is the intention of the institution to give the students an intellectual training that will fit them for any occupation that they may ever be called on to fill.

Mr. Jefferson Whitten devoted his remarks to the land grant and its acceptance by the State, said he was a Democrat, is opposed to the Agricultural College and is determined to be opposed to it.

Mr. James Rogers, of Stetson, opposed the College, saying it educates a few at the expense of many, which is not just. Mr. John Fogg of Etna, also opposed the College.

Mr. Arey of Hampden, said the organization of the Agricultural College was the first step towards the education of the farmers that was up to his idea. And he thought the farmers should be more patient, and the experiments that are tried at the College from year to year will have an influence to make more practical farmers every year.

Mr. Abbott of Etna followed in remarks showing him to be hostile to the institution.

Mr. J. E. Shaw of Hampden said he thought the State made a judicious move for the advancement of education when she accepted from the national government the donation for an Agricultural College, and the great reason there is so much fault found with it has been the appropriations have been so limited that it has been impossible for the Directors to put the institution in a proper condition for the State to derive the greatest benefit from it. The State knew when she accepted the donation what the terms were that the funds received were not to be used for a farm or erecting buildings. And as long as it remains a State institution she should extend to it the helping hand appropriating liberally that it may become an honor to the State, and that every citizen can feel an honest pride in its prosperity.

Mr. Chase of Carmel spoke in opposition to the institution, and was followed by Mr. Luce of Bangor, who said this was not the first time he had been convinced that it was a very easy matter to find fault if people are disposed to, and for an agricultural man to find fault with an appropriation that does not cost him more than four mills on an hundred dollars, looks rather small.

Now, brother farmers, let us try to educate ourselves and our children to the extent that we can contend with the frost and drugs of society successfully. His and the experiments on feeding swine, lots are of more value to the farmers of the State than all the taxes they will ever be required to pay for the support of the College if they will heed them.

The annual meeting of the County Club will be held at the Fuller school house, Bangor, on Saturday, Feb. 5th, at ten o'clock A. M. The programme for the occasion will be as follows: Election of officers. Discussion of the question, "Progressive Farming," to be opened by John Fogg, Esq., of Etna.

A NOTABLE REVIVAL

DR. H. A. REYNOLDS IN GLOUCESTER, MASS.

One our citizens interested in the temperance movement has handed us a late copy of the Boston Congregationalist containing the following letter from R. B. Makepeace of Gloucester, Mass., giving an account of a temperance revival inaugurated there by Dr. H. A. Reynolds, President of the Bangor Reform Club.

Not since the great Washingtonian movement in 1841 has Gloucester been so stirred by any question as she is at present over the temperance reform. The entire city is agitated. At church, in the post and business offices, on the street, everywhere men talk of temperance, or discuss modes of relief for the unfortunate. On their way from Salem to Gloucester, Nov. 9, two of the city pastors speaking of the welfare of the city deplored the amount of intemperance which existed. A union meeting of all the pastors was proposed. They met, and decided to hold temperance meetings in the suburban districts during that month, and to begin a series of ten meetings in the City Hall, Dec. 2 and each week. The first meeting was addressed by the pastors, the others by speakers from abroad. The attendance on these meetings has increased from the first, and last night hundreds were unable to obtain admittance.

At the first meeting of this series, Henry A. Reynolds, M. D., of Bangor was present. As he was a stranger, the pastors received him with some hesitation; but he began his work, and before leaving town had secured sixteen names for the pledge. These persons he organized into a reform club. The Dr. was in town four days, and then went to fulfill engagements elsewhere. He returned to Gloucester Jan. 2, and found that the club numbered 100. Meetings were held each evening of last week. Wednesday the club numbered 160, Friday, 235, Saturday, 300, Tuesday of this week, 480 and Thursday, 630. On Monday, Jan. 17, the number was 850. When Dr. Reynolds left town, Jan. 10, he was escorted to the depot by about 2,000 people. The club was there, with ribbons flying. His parting words to the club were "Be good to yourselves, boys, and the community will respect you. Be true, keep right. Don't drink any more. Let me hear a good report from you." As the train left the depot, the air was filled with cheers and martial music. As the procession returned to the club-rooms passing through the worst parts of the city, it was evident that the once populous rum-shops were now largely deserted. In one case only a dog remained to guard the property, and it was suggested that his bark was one of gladness for the change.

Much destitution has been relieved by this movement. One family had neither sheet nor pillow-case on which to lay their dead, and the mother borrowed clothing to attend the funeral. One man, and a man of influence, said that he had never owned an overcoat in his life. The Christian people have responded nobly to the calls thus made upon them. Through their kindness, a large, pleasant room has been fitted up for the club; twenty-five leading periodicals have been contributed, besides books, and pictures, and there is more clothing ready for the poor than has, as yet, been asked for.

The religious tendencies of the work ought to be noticed. The men believe they can keep the pledge "only by the help of God." Believing this they welcome religious work in their behalf, and already attend the different churches freely. Are there any Catholics in the club? Yes, and they must be handled with care. But if it is remembered that the club is not a church, they will give no trouble.

The success which has followed the work of Dr. Reynolds here has followed it elsewhere. Large clubs have been formed in Marblehead, Salem, Watertown, Peabody and Lynn, and last night a club was formed in Lowell. I know of fourteen hundred names that he has secured for the pledge within eight weeks. In Maine twenty thousand men are organized in clubs, and working on his plans. Their bias ... Eighty-five per cent of these men have kept their pledge. Some of these ... were gathered by other workers.

Dr. Reynolds was born in Bangor, Me., Nov. 9, 1839, was graduated from Harvard College in 1863. Studied medicine with Wm. H. Brown, M. D., of Bangor. He practiced medicine eleven years, but being a drinking man, not a drunkard, for twenty years, has been a total abstinence man for twenty-one months. He says,

"I came to a place where I saw that if I kept on in my bad habits one of two things must occur, either I must die suddenly by God's act, or by my own. Or I must be ... a complete sot. The ... upon the temperance tracts. It has cost me $30,000 for what I know about temperance."

His modes of work are eminently judicious and praiseworthy. No ... has felt obliged to explain or justify his work. It speaks for itself. With the ... he has nothing to say. He ... to ... He has a large heart, and works ... the drunkard to be the most unfortunate of all unfortunate men ... thoroughly and appreciates the danger. This ... with all ... his success in inspiring ... to work. Himself a Christian ... men that Christ is the way ... He believes that drunkards ... religion and religious ... the delusion ... In making the following apportionment of delegates to the convention of the several States and Territories and the District of Columbia, we have adhered to the ratio of representation which has been adopted by the Republican party in all previous conventions, viz: Two delegates at large from each State, and one delegate for each Representative in Congress, based upon the vote cast for the Republican candidates for Presidential Electors in 1872, except that each State which had not been entitled to a Representative in Congress at the time of the last Presidential election, has been allowed one delegate, and each Territory and the District of Columbia one delegate.

In calling for the election of delegates to the convention, the several States and Territories and the District of Columbia are requested to provide that the number of delegates to which they are severally entitled shall be elected by the Congressional districts as now constituted, and that the electors of each State, Territory and the District of Columbia shall be elected on the same day, which shall be the same day on which the electors for President and Vice-President are appointed in the several States.

OUR FOOD FISHERIES

We print to-day a letter of Prof. Baird, the head of the Fish Commission, which will be read with interest by all who are concerned in the welfare of our fisheries. The Legislature of Maine will do well to have a thorough investigation of the subject, and make such appropriations as the interests of the fisheries require. Prof. Baird's letter is full of practical suggestions, and we hope that the Legislature will act upon them. The Commissioners of Fisheries for Maine, Massachusetts and Connecticut will meet in this city on the 15th inst., and the public may confidently expect that some practical results will follow their deliberations.

THE PERSONS AND PAPERS MEMBER

Mr. Walsh attributes to Mr. Powers the other day by grossly misrepresenting the former remarks of the latter. When Mr. Powers introduced his properly worded order for the College lands investigation, the chagrin of the Democratic fugleman was beyond control, and he relieved himself by the impudent assertion that Mr. Powers had first opposed investigation and had been converted. His pompous hope that Mr. Powers' original remarks would be published in full was met more promptly than the public generally looked for by the appearance of the full stenographic report in the columns of the Journal of Monday, adjoining his own child. It good fund showing the utter baselessness of his assertion. Mr. Powers and other Republican members who spoke upon the introduction of Bass' proposition which was reported in a Democratic caucus and promptly made off-side promptly expressed regret at his unwillingness to meet any respectable demand for investigation, but asked that to give and all others be postponed for consideration of the constitutional rights of every citizen and the full and free exercise of the right of free speech without fear or favor. Mr. Powers' speeches would indicate, however, and shows now that for the House of Representatives to have adopted without a moment's consideration or word of explanation such a proposition as that looking to the prosecution of former officers of this State would be but little short of a burlesque upon legislation. All that was what he originally intended in offering the resolution was to get at the records of the Secretary of State's office, that the Republican members might have the opportunity of knowing what charges had been preferred against the officers of the State House before they were asked to vote upon the question of their impeachment. Mr. Powers' object was to get at the facts before the public and before the House, and to have the matter settled by the House until after the election of Governor, when the whole matter could be taken up and disposed of in the usual way. Mr. Powers' object was to get at the facts before the public and before the House, and to have the matter settled by the House until after the election of Governor, when the whole matter could be taken up and disposed of in the usual way.

BRAINS AND BLESTED

We think before with other portions of the press that the Democratic State Convention of Saturday will show that Mr. Haynes of Augusta is the only man in the party who has brains enough to lead it to victory. The party is divided into factions, and the only way to unite it is to get rid of the old leaders and put new men in their places. Mr. Haynes is the only man who can do this. He is the only man who can unite the party. He is the only man who can lead it to victory. He is the only man who can unite the party. He is the only man who can lead it to victory.

We are glad to see that Mr. Haynes is the only man who can unite the party. He is the only man who can lead it to victory. He is the only man who can unite the party. He is the only man who can lead it to victory.

TAPPING AT THE DUNG

The Democrats of the House are trying to get up a row with the Republicans. They are trying to get up a row with the Republicans. They are trying to get up a row with the Republicans.

THE CAPITAL.

We notice in the Legislature report that in the talk in the House about moving the Capital to Portland Hon. J. W. Porter of Buxton remarked that the House was in solemn earnest when the order for removal was passed, and that it should be declared concurred with the Senate indubitably pos going the subject there would be no thing left for members but to be provided with caps and bells as jesters.

We don't know how the thing has been going in the assembly room at the State House, but it is to be hoped that the general will see nothing to believe the proposition to be the character of a very poor joke except that the Democrats have played it as one of their subtleties for impairing Republican harmony. The latter looks to be obviously to outsider than it appears to have been to one on Republican legislators.

There is no doubt of the seat of the State Government being in Augusta, but people have a right to be consulted, and they have given no evidence of any preference for the removal. It is to be hoped that the question will be settled on that question. When it comes up this Legislature is elected on that issue we are quite sure that there will be nothing remaining but the most desire for the public interest of the State. Let the extreme south west corner of the border of the State. The location of Mr. Porter's remark would lead us to infer that it was a local allocation between Augusta and Portland, but we do not think the joke is confined to the latter. The people of this section and everywhere else have declared their opinion on this subject by such expressions as to represent that Augusta is the Capital to the City of Portland. The record of the subject by Mr. Porter during the session of the Democratic caucus and the action of the Democratic members of the House of Representatives in the matter until the election of Governor, when the whole matter could be taken up and disposed of in the usual way.

The final defeat of the Carlists is expected in Berlin but it is doubted whether Spain will be able to pacify Cuba whatever number of troops she may send there.

On January 28th one pair of horses hauled, on one load, 152 logs a distance of nearly half a mile on Buffalo stream. The logs were made ready on the same day by Andrew J. Knox, Jacob Simmons (teamster) and Josiah Jones, all in the employ of Malcolm McPherson. That is a good day's work.

Spofford Pickering, an old and esteemed citizen of Bucksport died yesterday at the advanced age of 83 years. He was well known by old and young of the village and held in the highest esteem by all, for his kindly manners and straightforward course during the many years he resided in their midst.

The Street Commissioner [illegible] did a good thing when he sanded these sidewalks and—slowly gathering himself up he completed the sentence thus—if he had covered that place my silk hat would not have been run over by a passing team, nor my internal organism so thoroughly mixed up.

At a meeting of the High Tow Hose Co. No 8 last evening the following officers were elected: Foreman, Thomas A. Williams; 2d Foreman, John Landers; 3d Foreman, Richard S. Davis; Clerk and Treasurer, Elliot W. Corson; Steward, Edward Draw; Standing Committee, Horace A. [illegible], John A. Clark, Chas. Burrill.

A large party of young lads were coasting on Hammond Street Hill last evening, to the great danger of their lives as numerous teams were passing to and from at the time. They start from the vicinity of the Theological Seminary and turn down Union Street shouting to people to "get out of the road," frightening spirited horses so that a runaway is only prevented by a strong arm. Stop em.

FIRST PAGE. In addition to the usual State news on the first page, there will be found the report of the doings of the Penobscot County Farmers Club, at their recent meeting, also an account of the notable temperance revival in Gloucester, Mass., in which Dr Reynolds of this city has taken so prominent a part. A short poem and an article on beet root sugar are printed on the fourth page.

A GOOD PLAN. Chief Engineer Lowell has had maps of the city prepared for each of the assistants and the several fire companies showing the exact location of each of the 127 fire hydrants so that they may familiarize themselves with all the localities where hydrants can be used and find them on the darkest nights thus enabling them to get water on fires with no more delay than is absolutely necessary in connecting and placing the hose.

A FINE OFFICE. For some time past carpenters have been at work preparing and fitting up an office for W. J. Pearson, Esq. in the depot block Exchange street. The front office, which is well lighted by two large windows is larger and spacious, measuring 25 by 17 feet. The floor is of hard wood—an improvement on a carpet. Two doors open from this office into Mr Pearson's private office, where everything seems to be arranged with a view to convenience and comfort. Both offices are lighted by gas and warmed by steam. Altogether it is one of the pleasantest offices in the city. Mr Pearson moved into his new quarters yesterday.

HE DIDN'T WANT IT. A certain man of this city whose head is fiery red purchased a load of hay the other day of a man from the rural districts, and went into the stable loft to stow it away. The farmer, during the process of pitching became quite warm and laid aside his coat and hat pausing a moment to breathe. At this juncture the joker looked down and noticing that the husbandman's head was entirely bald, said, "My friend, where were you when heads of hair were distributed?" "Well," said the countryman, "I had stepped out a moment, and when I returned there was only a pile of red stuff left and I wouldn't have that!" The rest of that load of hay was disposed of without any conversation.

OBITUARY. John H. Hinkley, Esq., of Hermon, died in that place last Sunday, at the age of 63 years and 11 months. In the death of this respected gentleman, the community loses one of its most intelligent citizens. The uprightness of his character and his unbending integrity seemed to connect him, in the thoughts of his friends, to the Pilgrim Fathers of old, among whom he had an honored ancestor. For many years he has been officially identified with the municipal affairs of his town. He was a member of the Board of County Commissioners for Penobscot, during the years 1856-7 and 8, and he faithfully represented his town in the State Legislature of '66. In social life he endeared himself to many besides a large circle of relatives whom will mourn his loss. A man of so many noble characteristics cannot well be spared from any community; but there is consolation in the fact that his example will live after him for others to profit by. The funeral services will take place from his late residence in Hermon to-morrow morning at half past ten o'clock.

The Piano to Buy.

I am selling first class Pianos of this description for $350 to 400, according to style of case. I warrant these fully equal in tone, action and durability, to any Pianos made, and far superior to most of the Pianos which dealers are asking $450 to $600 for, (most of which are only 7 octave, and are not made in the improved modern scale), and I challenge the most critical examination and comparison. I have some good bargains now in second hand Pianos.

One 7 Octave Rosewood carved legs, handsome, cost $350 six months ago, for $210, a great bargain.

One 7 1-3 Octave Rosewood carved legs, cost 700, for $250.

INFORMATION FOR HOUSEKEEPERS.—Few housekeepers are aware of the many uses to which waste paper may be put. After a stove has been blackened it may be kept looking very well for a long time by rubbing it with paper every morning. Rubbing with paper is a much nicer way of keeping the outside of tea kettle, coffee pot or tea pot clean than the old way of washing it in suds. Rubbing them with paper is also the best way of polishing tin ware and spoons; they will shine like new silver. For polishing mirrors, windows, lamp chimneys, etc., paper is better than dry cloth. Preserves and pickles keep much better if brown paper, instead of cloth, is tied over the top of the jar. Canned fruit is not so apt to mould if a piece of writing paper cut to fit each can is laid directly upon the fruit. Paper is much better put under carpets than straw. It is thinner, warmer and makes less noise when one walks over it. Two thicknesses of paper placed between the coverings on a bed are as warm as a quilt. If it is necessary to step on a chair, always lay a paper on it and thus save the woodwork and paint from damage.
